

“Generations”

Judges

Generations will succeed us;
Will our children know our God?
Will they hearken to His statutes?
Will they follow where we've trod?

Left alone to their devices
They will stumble, fall away,
Do what's right before their own eyes,
And forsake God and His way.

Let us lead them and instruct them
In the works our God has done
Lest the world and its entrapments
Set a snare for anyone.

Let us teach them God's commandments,
That His promises are true;
He delivers those who trust Him
From all foes which may pursue.

Unto God is our dependence;
In his care we do rejoice.
We must pray for grace and mercy
That our children heed His voice.
