

“How Well Have You Invested?”

How well have you invested all
The gifts you have been giv'n?
For one day we will meet the Judge
Who reigns on earth and heav'n.
To Him we must all give account
Of words and deeds and thoughts,
Of dreams, ambitions, and pursuits
And pleasures we have sought.
What is the treasure of your soul
Where your affections cling?
What do you value 'bove all else?
What is your most prized thing?
Will it elude the creep of rust?
Will it escape decay?
Will it evade the reach of moth
And thieves who steal away?
Invest in souls around you! All
The ones Christ seeks to save;
For time is running out for man
And all will meet the grave.
How great is your portfolio?
How well do you invest?
One day it will be tried by fire:
Will it survive the test?

T. R. Hobson
Copyright 9-21-16
www.hobsonshymns.com